

NO SECRETS HOLD IN WAR TIME UNDER BRITISH DEFENSE ACT

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 12.—There are no secrets from the state in war-time. Lawyers, doctors, priests in the confessional—all are included in the phrase "person or persons of any class or description," who must tell on demand, under the British defense act of the realm act.

The issue has been pointedly raised in Ireland, where the military authorities have arrested a lawyer, H. O. Moran, and his client, James Ryan, for refusing to state how certain documents read in a Limerick war case came into their possession.

In a statement justifying the position of parliament in abolishing the hitherto inviolable secrecy which has surrounded the relations of lawyer and client, doctor and patient, or priest and parishioner, Sir William Bull, one of the leading legal lights of the house of commons, says:

"The safety and defense of the realm override everything. There can be no question of privileges or customs intervening in a matter essential to the welfare of the state. Doctors and priests are under exactly the same obligations as lawyers, to give information to the competent military authority who demands it.

"Many prominent people have already discovered how very extensive are the powers of the executive authorities under the wartime laws. Nothing has appeared in the newspapers, or could appear, about certain occurrences, of which sensational stories may perhaps be told after the war. People have been called upon to reveal all sorts of things which they never expected to have to account for."

COMSTOCK TAILINGS WILL BE HANDLED

DAYTON PLACER RECOVERY CORPORATION LETS CONTRACT FOR MILL

Legal papers were signed yesterday, says the Salt Lake Tribune, assuring the speedy completion of an enterprise that is expected to mark an epoch in the history of western mining, inasmuch as it means the treatment of the great tailings dump of the old Comstock mine by the cyanide process.

The Dayton Placer Recovery corporation awarded to George W. Wood, mining engineer and metallurgist, a contract for the building of a 150-ton cyanide plant on the property held by the corporation, which controls the dump, located four miles from Dayton, on the lines of the Southern Pacific and Virginia & Truckee railroads.

Previous attempts have been made to handle the old Comstock tailings, but without success. The volume of the dump is large, it being conservatively estimated that there are at least 600,000 tons of tailings that carry gold and silver values of from $4 to $5 per ton. A long series of experimental tests has satisfied the operators and metallurgist that this dump can be treated by the process devised in such a manner as to afford the company a net profit of $3 per ton or better.

There will be no delay in the installation of the new plant, according to statements made by officials of the company. Some of the machinery and equipment is already on the ground, the remainder is ordered and it is planned that the plant, which will have a capacity of 150 tons per day, will be in commission by May 15. The total cost of the mill will be about $100,000.

RAWHIDE MILL SHUT DOWN

The New Miles Co. mill at Rawhide closed down after the extreme cold weather came on. Rawhide got along pretty well during the extreme cold, though a shortage of fuel made the people draw on a few old buildings for fire wood. An ample supply of water had been pumped into the tank before the cold spell came on.

NEW $30,000 SCHOOL TO BE BUILT SOON AT SPARKS

Plans for the sale of the new $30,000 Sparks school bonds have been made. Plans for the grade school in the eastern end of the town will soon be drawn and drawings for the high school building will soon be completed.

DISABLED OFFICERS BECOME TEACHERS

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The teaching profession is to be made attractive for partially disabled officers and men. Already the board of education has let down the bars to examinations so as to consider proposals for admission to training colleges of men discharged from the army, who though not possessing any of the examination qualifications usually required, appear likely to complete a course of training satisfactorily. The board will not expect the same standard of physical efficiency as is required of ordinary students.

ELLISON'S NEGOTIATING FOR GOLCONDA CATTLE COMPANY

Another big land deal, that has been under way for several months, bids fair to be closed in Salt Lake City during the next few days. The Golconda Cattle Company, probably the largest concern of its kind in eastern Nevada, and in which Congressman William Kent is the controlling factor, is about to dispose of its immense holdings in Humboldt and Elko counties to the Ellison Ranching Company.

The property consists of about 50,000 acres of land in Humboldt and Elko counties and around 25,000 head of sheep, in addition to a large number of horses and cattle.

This deal will make the Ellison Ranching Company the largest land owners and stock raisers in the county, as it bought out the Hardin interests in the northern part of the county several years ago, consisting of around 10,000 acres of land, with its livestock.

Former State Senator Maurice Mack was rushed to Reno from Gardnerville on a special train Friday morning and operated on for appendicitis at St. Mary's hospital the same evening. His condition is reported as satisfactory and he is expected to recover soon from the effects of the operation.

REDUCE HIS SALARY BY ALL MEANS!

Editor of The Bonanza: So the people may know, Billy Thomas, the present sheriff and assessor of Nye county has collected more liquor licenses in the fractional part of January, he having taken over the affairs of the office on January 5, than any previous sheriff ever did in the first six months of any year, collected up to the present writing something over $12,000 bullion tax, has returned any number of bullion statements for correction, has insisted upon several complete reconstruction of bullion tax returns that have netted the people tax payments where otherwise the companies would have been considered as not having earned a profit, has collected in less than one month's effort more sleep grazing licenses than any previous sheriff with the sole exception of Sheriff Slavin's last year, and the amount so collected by Thomas is now within $400,000 of the amount collected by Slavin during the entire year. Thomas has instituted some labor-saving methods and will institute more as the work of the office becomes more familiar if the people will only give him the opportunity. He has refused flatly to permit interference by the county commissioners in the affairs of his office and has insisted that he be at least given the same chance that has been given other sheriffs. The county commissioners would have cut down the sheriff's force to two men, but for the insistence of Thomas, he having demanded a force equal to that had by his predecessor, Slavin, and that at any time in his opinion the work of his office could be accomplished by a smaller force, he, Thomas, would reduce it himself and without suggestion from the county commissioners. Let the people decide, who wants to reduce the present sheriff's salary and force, and is it in the interest of efficiency and economy, or is there a negro in the woodpile? Ask the allied interests!
